

There are so many amazing places in this world I would love to visit! There are so many countries and cities with thousands of interesting things to see and millions of people to meet. If I had to choose just one place I don't think I could. I want to see the plains in the west, with herds of mustangs running free. I would love to visit Rome and "do as the Romans do". And I would enjoy a visit to Africa and see all the various creatures there.

On my visit out west maybe I could ride off into the sunset with a real cowboy. I would to

Score Point: 3

This response reflects a limited degree of proficiency in expository writing skills. The writer selects three places to visit (the plains in the West, Rome, and Africa) and provides a reason to support each choice. Although adequate facility in the use of language is demonstrated, further development is required for a higher score.